2019 – 2020 Wokingham SEND Co-production Charter

Wokingham's SEND Co-production Charter

Co-production puts the needs of the individual at the heart of all the decision making processes and the support and services provided.

Our Principles:

- Everyone is welcome and treated with care and respect.
- Everyone's opinion is not only listened to, but is equally valued and included.
- Everyone communicates respectfully and in a timely fashion.
- Everyone works together to achieve the best outcome.
- There is trust and transparency.

Coproduction will be conducted at all levels:

- Individually – where an individual can influence the support and services they need. Their voice is heard, and they feel empowered about the decisions being made about their future.
- Collectively – where groups of people influence the way services are designed, commissioned and delivered.
- Strategically – where co-production is an embedded culture of inclusion. Individuals, families, groups and organisations can influence equally services, commissioning, monitoring and new projects.
